

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

This Notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed by UConn Health, comprised of the following entities (collectively "UConn Health" in this Notice), and how you can get access to this information. This Notice applies to employees, physicians, dentists, volunteers, trainees, and other persons whose conduct is under the direct control of UConn Health, whether or not the person is paid by UConn Health. Please review it carefully.

- UConn John Dempsey Hospital, including all outpatient locations on and off campus
- UConn School of Medicine
- UConn Medical Group (UMG) locations on and off campus
- UConn School of Dental Medicine locations on and off campus and University Dentists
- UConn Health Pharmacy Services, Inc. (UHPSI)

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) establishes standards to protect individuals' medical records and other personal health information, granting patients some control over certain parts of their health information and requiring organizations such as UConn Health to implement certain safeguards and practices to keep each patient's protected health information (PHI) safe. PHI includes any information created or received by UConn Health that relates to the health or condition of an individual, the provision of healthcare to an individual, or payment for the provision of healthcare to an individual, and either identifies the individual or is reasonably believed to provide information that can be used to identify the individual.

UConn Health's Pledge Regarding PHI

UConn Health, in alignment with applicable laws, stands committed to the privacy of each patient's PHI, and UConn Health understands and respects the personal and confidential nature of this information.

UConn Health creates and maintains a record of the care and services provided by UConn Health, as well as those records received in support of UConn Health care and services, to deliver quality care and to comply with certain legal requirements. This Notice applies to all PHI created, received, or maintained by UConn Health, including these records.

- Laws Require that UConn Health:
- Safeguard the privacy and security of PHI;
- Explain how, when, and why UConn Health uses or discloses PHI;
- Notify affected patients or their representatives in the event of a breach of unsecured PHI; and
- Follow the terms of this Notice, including not using or disclosing PHI without written permission other than as described in this Notice.

How UConn Health Uses and Discloses Your PHI

The following categories describe different ways UConn Health uses and discloses your PHI as permitted or required by federal and state law. Though not an exhaustive list of examples, all the ways UConn Health is permitted to use and disclose your PHI fall within one of the categories below.

Treatment: UConn Health may use your PHI to treat you and may share your PHI with other healthcare providers, including those outside of UConn Health, to coordinate and manage your treatment (this includes psychiatric, HIV-related, certain records that may refer to substance use, and most other types of PHI, excluding psychotherapy notes, if necessary for your diagnosis and treatment). For example, a doctor treating you may need to know about a chronic condition or former treatment in order to provide the best treatment for your current condition.

Payment: UConn Health may use and disclose your PHI to bill and collect payment from you, an insurance company, a third party, or a state or federal healthcare program, including disclosure of PHI for the purpose of obtaining a prior authorization. UConn Health may disclose PHI to billing and collection agencies to collect payment and to consumer reporting agencies (e.g., credit bureaus).

Healthcare Operations: UConn Health may use and disclose your PHI for UConn Health's own healthcare operations, including for the purpose of improving the quality, safety, and cost of care, evaluating the skills and performance of people providing care, and providing training programs for students, trainees, and other personnel.

Artificial Intelligence: UConn Health may use machine learning and artificial intelligence technologies to collect and process PHI to support treatment, payment, and healthcare operations. Use of these technologies may support tasks including, but not limited to, summarizing medical information, drafting clinical notes, prioritizing emergency conditions, and streamlining financial and operational processes. These technologies are designed to enhance decision-making and efficiency but do not replace human judgment. Your health care providers remain responsible for all decisions related to your treatment. In addition, some of these technologies are integrated into UConn Health systems and are part of the current standard of care.

SUD Treatment Information: If we receive or maintain any information about you from a substance use disorder treatment program that is covered by 42 CFR Part 2 (a "Part 2 Program") through a general consent you provide to the Part 2 Program to use and disclose the Part 2 Program record for purposes of treatment, payment or health care operations, we may use and disclose your Part 2 Program record for treatment, payment and health care operations purposes as described in this Notice. If we receive or maintain your Part 2 Program record through specific consent you provide to us or another third party, we will use and disclose your Part 2 Program record only as expressly permitted by you in your consent as provided to us.

In no event will we use or disclose your Part 2 Program record, or testimony that describes the information contained in your Part 2 Program record, in any civil, criminal, administrative, or legislative proceedings by any Federal, State, or local authority, against you, unless authorized by your consent or the order of a court after it provides you notice of the court order.

Business Associates: Certain services may be provided on UConn Health's behalf by another person or entity (a "business associate") for the purposes of treatment, payment, or healthcare operations, and UConn Health may disclose PHI to these business associates for these purposes. UConn Health makes such disclosures according to written contracts that outline uses and disclosures of PHI and require business associates to appropriately safeguard information.

Fundraising Activities: UConn Health may contact you or disclose limited PHI to The University of Connecticut Foundation, Inc., (the "Foundation") so the Foundation may contact you, in an effort to raise money for UConn Health, provided you have not opted out of receiving fundraising solicitations and communications. The Foundation has been delegated the primary responsibility for all fundraising for the benefit of the University of Connecticut, including UConn Health. If you wish to opt out of receiving these communications and you wish to direct UConn Health to not use or disclose your PHI for fundraising efforts, contact the University of Connecticut Foundation, Inc., at 1-800-269-9965 or visit www.foundation.uconn.edu.

Hospital Directory: While a patient at UConn John Dempsey Hospital, UConn Health may include your name, location in the hospital, and religious affiliation, if any, in the hospital directory, provided you have not opted out of inclusion in the directory. UConn Health may disclose your location in the hospital to anyone asking for you by name; religious affiliation and other directory information, including your name, may be provided to clergy members. Notify a unit or department manager if you wish to opt out of the hospital directory; if you opt out of the directory, your information will not be disclosed to any callers or visitors asking about you. Please note, patients in the psychiatric units and patients in the custody of the Department of Correction are not included in the hospital directory.

Individuals Involved in Your Care: UConn Health may disclose to a family member, relative, friend, or other person involved in your care or payment for your care, PHI directly relevant to that person's involvement in your care or payment for your care. UConn Health may use or disclose PHI to notify a family member, personal representative, or other person responsible for your care of your location, general condition, or death unless you object or otherwise instruct UConn Health. If you are incapacitated or otherwise unable to describe your wishes, UConn Health may make such disclosures if UConn Health determines such disclosures to be in your best interest. UConn Health complies with additional state law confidentiality protections for minors receiving treatment for HIV/AIDS, pregnancy and pregnancy prevention, abortion, venereal disease, substance use disorder, or mental health. UConn Health discloses PHI to correctional institution or law enforcement officials with custody of an inmate as required for the correctional institution to provide healthcare to the inmate, to protect the health or safety of the public or a person, or for the safety and security of the correctional institution.

Disaster Relief: UConn Health may disclose your PHI to an entity assisting in a disaster relief effort to aid in location of you, your friends, or your family members, or to provide information about your general condition or death.

Research: UConn Health may contact you about research opportunities in which you may be interested, provided you have not opted out of receiving research recruitment communications. UConn Health may use or disclose your PHI for research purposes with your written authorization or, under certain circumstances, as permitted by law, without authorization (for example, disclosures to UConn Health researchers to prepare a research protocol, in which case the PHI remains at UConn Health and is limited to what is minimally necessary). UConn Health may also use or disclose PHI in limited ways to support research aimed at developing new knowledge, consistent with applicable laws. For example, a research project may compare the health and recovery of all patients who received one medication to those who received another for the same condition. All research projects undergo review by an IRB or Privacy Board, which evaluates the proposed research and privacy protections before any use or disclosure of PHI occurs.

De-identified Information or Limited Data Sets: UConn Health may use and disclose health information about you after removing any information that potentially identifies you (de-identifying the health information). UConn Health may also use and disclose health information about you that constitutes a "Limited Data Set" (as defined by HIPAA), for purposes of research, public health, or healthcare operations, if the recipient of the information signs an agreement to protect the privacy of the information as required by federal and state law. Limited Data Sets do not contain any information that directly identifies you (such as your name, street address, Social Security number, phone number, email address, and other direct identifiers described in the HIPAA definition of a "Limited Data Set").

As Required by Law: UConn Health discloses PHI as required by federal or state statute, regulation, or court opinion, including mandatory reporting obligations. Such reporting may include information about suspected abuse, abandonment, neglect, exploitation, domestic violence, workers' compensation program services, and health oversight activities.

Public Safety: UConn Health may use and disclose your PHI when believed in good faith to be necessary to prevent a serious and imminent threat to the health or safety of a person or the public.

Organ and Tissue Donation: UConn Health may use and disclose PHI as necessary for organ, eye, or tissue donation, procurement, processing, distributing, or using a human body or body parts for use in medical education, therapy, or transplantation.

Public Health Activities: UConn Health may disclose your PHI to appropriate government agencies for public health activities for the purpose of preventing or controlling disease, injury, or disability. Such reporting may include births, deaths, suspected communicable disease, suspected overdose events, medication and medical product adverse events, and product recall information.

Lawsuits and Legal Disputes: In the context of any judicial or administrative proceeding, UConn Health may disclose your PHI in accordance with applicable law to comply with a court or administrative order, subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process provided the court has appropriate jurisdiction over UConn Health.

Law Enforcement: UConn Health may disclose a limited amount of PHI to law enforcement for specific purposes related to identifying or locating a suspect, fugitive, material witness, or missing person, related to a crime, or as required by law.

Coroners, Medical Examiners, and Funeral Directors: UConn Health may disclose PHI concerning deceased patients to a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director as necessary to carry out their duties.

Reproductive Healthcare and Gender-affirming Healthcare Services: UConn Health and its Business Associates are generally prohibited from disclosing your information related to reproductive healthcare or gender-affirming healthcare services permitted under Connecticut law without your written consent for any civil, probate, legislative, or administrative proceeding. You have the right to withhold your written consent and any subpoena for these records received by UConn Health or its business associates without your written consent will be provided to the Connecticut Office of the Attorney General. Your written consent is not required to disclose this information for: 1) compliance with Connecticut law; 2) the legal defense of UConn Health or its business associates; 3) investigations by the Commissioner of the Department of Public Health; and 4) mandatory reporting of abuse or neglect.

Specialized Government Functions: UConn Health may disclose PHI as it relates to military and veterans' activities, national security and intelligence activities, protective services for the President, and medical suitability determinations for the United States Armed Forces or Department of State.

Electronic Disclosures & Health Information Exchanges: UConn Health makes certain disclosures described within this Notice via electronic transmission, interface, or direct access to our electronic health records system. In addition, UConn Health may participate in certain health information exchanges involving disclosure of PHI as permitted by law to other healthcare providers or entities for permitted purposes. As mandated by the State of Connecticut, UConn Health participates in Connie, the statewide health information exchange. You may opt out of Connie by contacting Connie directly as described on their website at www.connie.org. To request opt-out of other health information exchanges, contact the Office of Healthcare Compliance & Privacy at 860-679-6060 or <mailto:ohcp@uchc.edu>.

OTHER USES AND DISCLOSURES OF PHI

UConn Health will obtain your authorization to use or disclose your PHI for any reasons not covered by this Notice or applicable law, including certain uses and disclosures related to marketing and the sharing of psychotherapy notes.

If you provide authorization to UConn Health for a certain use or disclosure of your PHI, you may revoke that authorization, in writing, at any time unless UConn Health has already relied on that authorization for a use or disclosure. If you revoke your authorization, UConn

Health will no longer use or disclose your PHI for the reasons covered by the revoked authorization.

YOUR RIGHTS REGARDING PHI

Right to Access PHI: With limited exceptions, you have the right to access the PHI about you that UConn Health maintains in your medical and dental records, including the right to inspect or obtain a copy, or both, of the PHI, as well as the right to direct UConn Health to transmit a copy to a designated person or entity of your choice. You may be charged a reasonable, cost-based fee for copies of PHI. UConn Health may deny a request to access PHI in certain limited circumstances, in which case UConn Health will provide the reason for the denial and how to request a review of the denial.

Right to Correct or Update: You have the right to request an amendment or correction of your PHI maintained by UConn Health in your medical and dental records if you feel the information is incomplete or inaccurate. You also have the right to have this request and any decision related to this request included in your record, if you so choose. UConn Health requires submission of amendment requests in writing. UConn Health reviews all requests and responds in writing within 60 days. If you disagree with UConn Health's decision, you have the right to appeal the decision.

Right to an Accounting of Disclosures: You have the right to receive an accounting of certain disclosures of your PHI by UConn Health and its business associates. This accounting will not include disclosures for treatment, payment, and healthcare operations, and certain other exceptions. UConn Health requires submission of accounting of disclosure requests in writing and requires that the request state a time period no longer than six years prior to the date of the request. UConn Health will provide one accounting of disclosures to you each year at no charge but may charge for additional accountings. When you request an accounting of disclosures from UConn Health, UConn Health may provide you with the accounting of disclosures or the names and contact information of our business associates so that you may contact them directly for an accounting of disclosures made by them.

Right to Request Restriction of Use and Disclosure of PHI: You have the right to request that UConn Health restrict the use and disclosure of your PHI maintained by UConn Health. UConn Health requires submission of restriction requests in writing. While UConn Health will try to accommodate such requests, granting of such restrictions is not always possible. However, upon request, UConn Health will restrict the information disclosed to your health plan if you have already paid for the service in full prior to the time of service (unless UConn Health is legally required to submit the information to the health plan). UConn Health may terminate any restriction not legally required by notifying you in writing of the termination; likewise, you may terminate any restriction by notifying UConn Health in writing.

Right to Request Confidential Communications by Alternative Means: You have the right to request a specific means by which UConn Health must communicate with you about confidential matters. For example, you can request that UConn Health only contact you at a single address or phone number. UConn Health accommodates reasonable requests.

Right to a Copy of This Notice: You may download a copy of the current UConn Health Notice of Privacy Practices from UConn Health's website at uconnhealth.org, or you may obtain a paper copy of the current UConn Health Notice of Privacy Practices at any UConn Health facility.
